#34 – Worship as Warfare

Worship is so much more than church attendance. Worship is not even religious entertainment, the singing of the good old hymns that you remember and like. It is God's intention that worship should stretch our lives into dimensions of warfare against the enemy Satan.

Satan hates worship because worship reminds him about his once exalted position as leader of the heavenly choirs who with joy praised God. Wherever and whenever praise is offered Satan flees, for he cannot endure the reminder of the consequences of his fall. We can, therefore, through genuine heart-felt praise establish the presence of God in situations and circumstances where Satan now rules. So instead of lamenting how the hard enemy of working, instead of whining and complaining about his power, instead of murmuring about the troubles of the last days, let us engage in praise, adoration and worship. After all, God is always worthy of worship. Even when we do not feel like praising, He is still worthy of worship. Sometimes we may have to engage in praise as our offering of the "sacrifice of praise" whereby we testify that our trust in God is far greater than momentary troubles and afflictions.

Here are some tangible benefits of praise that shifts the balance of power both in earthly and heavenly places.

- "As worship establishes Christ's kingdom power, it does violence to Satan's kingdom. In worship and prayer we express a holy discontent with the present and a stubborn unwillingness to leave things as they are.
- Worship is God's appointed means of dealing a decisive defeat to all the enemies that oppress and afflict us.
- Worship has the power to penetrate hearts, for the childlike beauty and authenticity of it can bypass resistant minds and touch souls with the tender reality of God's presence.

- Worship has the power to neutralize the power of demonic attacks upon the people of God, for wherever the spirit of praise resides, God is enthroned and neither flesh nor devil can successfully perpetuate their designs.” ⁽¹⁾

The great controversy is all about worship. Worship is God’s invitation to each of us to actively participate in the great controversy NOW toward the defeat of anything, which exalts itself against the rule of God.

Praise Him now! Declare victory in advance!
